- Customer support team will also give short duration demos to clarify doubts and retrain on functionalities. However if the staff of library change a re-training program must be arranged at the premises of the client. Re-training charges will be extra.
- Customizations proposed by the client during this period will be considered by the development team. The development team will make a study on the generic use of such customizations across a broad spectrum of libraries. Those customizations which are of generic to all libraries will be added to the development cycle. Once that development cycle is completed, an update will be sent to the client. Any customizations which are specific to the client's library will be charged. Customization charges will be extra.
- Note: Customization charges are calculated on the basis of time consumes by a development team on that particular task, and will be charged ₹. 400.00 per hour.
- Re-installation of server and clients during this period will be free of cost. All such will be done via remote desktop sharing.
- Help will be provided to restore data from crashed Operating Systems. The client must take frequent backups of the database and all NewGenLib system files at frequent intervals.
- Verus Solutions will not be responsible for any data loss at client's place for any reason. Client is expected to protect the systems from electric spikes, unexpected power shutdowns, hacks through Internet and malicious software like Virus.
- If NewGenLib does not function as desired in any of the functionalities then the bug is identified and an immediate release will be scheduled for the client to solve the problem. However if the problem is with the underlying Operating System then the client is expected to get the Operating System rectified.
- NewGenLib updates, upgrades, and bug fixes will be provided free of cost during this period.
- Newer versions will be provided at a free of cost.
- New products and NewGenLib add-ons will be provided at a discounted price.
- Data conversions will be provided free of cost during this period. The client is expected to provide the legacy data in a machine readable format. Verus Solutions will convert the data to NewGenLib schema. Once data conversion is completed and accepted by the client, no re-conversions are executed.
- Consultations related to library technology will be provided free of cost.
